What Happens if the Member State does not Comply with the Compact?

The Compact provides for a governance structure at both the state and national levels for enforcement and compliance.

Where is the Compact in Terms of Implementation at the National and State Levels?

Thirty five states have adopted the Compact. The Department of Defense will continue to work with the Commission, Council of State Governments, national organizations, and state leaders to bring the remaining states on board. Member states are beginning to form their State Councils and inform school districts of the terms of the Compact. The Commission has met twice and is working to implement and communicate the requirements of the Compact.

Resolving Education Transition Issues for Military Families

Who Are We?

Interstate Compact on Educational Opportunity for Military Children

July 2010

What Are the Issues?

Military families encounter school challenges for their children for enrollment, eligibility, placement and graduation due to frequent relocations in service to our country.

What Is the Compact?

The Compact provides for the uniform treatment of military children transferring between school districts and states. It was developed by The Council of State Governments' National Center for Interstate Compacts, the Department of Defense, national associations, federal and state officials, departments of education, school administrators and military families.

How Does a State Join the Compact?

Each state must adopt the Compact through their legislative process. Participation is voluntary.

What Happens After a State Joins the Compact?

Each state appoints representation to a governing commission responsible for enacting rules to implement the Compact. Each participating state also creates a state council based on the requirements of their state legislation.

How Do I Learn More About the Compact?

You should visit the Council of State Government's Web site at
